Put a little ammonia in the water when you wash your hair and you will never have that dull soap film as a result. Use it, too, when you wash your brush and comb—just soak them in a basin of suds—and there will be no difficulty in making them sparkle with little effort on your part.

WHY KEEP UP WITH THE JONSES? (From The Vancouver Province)

Our generation has given a good deal of attention to the "Joneses", that mythical family which has been a will-o-the-wisp for so many ambitious young men and women.

We are inclined to laugh off any pretensions to "keeping up" with the Joneses but just the same where is the man, who, at some time or other hasn't yearned for that new house that streamlined car and that yacht that shouted to be world that its owner was a success and a good fellow to know.

Unfortunately there are not enough luminous manometers or yachts to go round and our psychiatrists are telling us that for the sake of our health we may as well get used to the idea that we will never catch up with the Joneses.

Two University of California Psychiatrists have reported to the American Medical Association that "an unusual number of social climbers and strainers suffer from chronic diseases, duodenal ulcers and thyroid life." They warn that a good many "climbers" get isolated from their environment and as a result become socially, mentally and physically lost.

Apparently the Joneses set too fast a pace for which not many of us are geared. Most of us, it seems, can be a lot happier and healthier, if we decide to let the Joneses go to blazes and enjoy our life and our friends as we go along.

For their honeymoon they motored to Yellowstone Park and Logan Pass returning by way of Waterton. They plan for the present to make their home in Lethbridge where the bride will resume teaching.
